

WPSA Pakistan Members Shine at the World's Poultry Congress (WPC) 2026 Toronto, Canada

Event Report

The World's Poultry Science Association (WPSA) Pakistan Branch proudly celebrates the remarkable achievements and active participation of its members at the World's Poultry Congress (WPC) 2026, held in Toronto, Canada. The congress brought together poultry scientists, researchers, academicians, industry leaders, and professionals from around the world to exchange knowledge, showcase scientific advancements, and strengthen international collaborations in poultry science.

Scientific Presentation by Dr. M. Asad Iqbal

WPSA Pakistan also congratulates Dr. M. Asad Iqbal for delivering an outstanding scientific presentation during WPC 2026. By representing Pakistan on one of the world's most prestigious poultry science platforms, Dr. Asad showcased the quality of research being conducted in Pakistan and contributed valuable scientific knowledge to the international poultry community.

His participation reflects the dedication of Pakistani researchers toward innovation, scientific excellence, and global collaboration in poultry science.

Muhammad Zee Waqar winners of Cliff D. Carpenter

A proud moment for WPSA Pakistan was the international recognition of Mr. Muhammad Zee Waqar, who was announced as one of the winners of the prestigious Cliff D. Carpenter International Essay Competition. This distinguished award recognizes exceptional young poultry scientists for their academic excellence, scientific writing, and innovative thinking. Receiving this recognition at the World's Poultry Congress reflects Mr. Zee Waqar's dedication to research, academic excellence, and his commitment to advancing poultry science. His achievement highlights the growing contribution of young Pakistani scientists to the global scientific community and serves as an inspiration for students and early-career researchers across the country.

Recognition of Dr. Asif Javaid

Another significant achievement was the recognition of Dr. Asif Javaid, who served as a Session Moderator during the World's Poultry Congress 2026. His selection for this important role demonstrates his professional expertise, leadership, and respected standing within the international poultry science community.

Serving as a moderator at such a prestigious scientific event is a matter of great pride for Pakistan and further strengthens the country's presence on the global poultry science stage.

WPSA Pakistan Members Shine at the World's Poultry Congress (WPC) 2026 Toronto, Canada

Contributions of Dr. Farhan Farooq

WPSA Pakistan proudly acknowledges the contributions of Dr. Farhan Farooq, Secretary General of WPSA Pakistan, during the World's Poultry Congress (WPC) 2026. Dr. Farooq delivered his scientific presentation online, sharing his expertise with the international poultry science community and contributing to the exchange of scientific knowledge. In addition to his academic contribution, Dr. Farooq participated in the WPSA General Assembly, where he exercised the Pakistan Branch's voting rights in the election of the WPSA Vice President. His participation in this important governance process reflected WPSA Pakistan's active engagement in the Association's international affairs and commitment to supporting the future leadership of the global WPSA community.

Online Scientific Presentation by Dr. Nasir Mukhtar

WPSA Pakistan also acknowledges the valuable contribution of Dr. Nasir Mukhtar, who delivered his scientific presentation online during the World's Poultry Congress (WPC) 2026. Despite participating virtually, Dr. Mukhtar effectively shared his research and expertise with the international poultry science community, demonstrating his continued commitment to scientific excellence and global knowledge exchange. His participation reflects the dedication of Pakistani scientists to advancing poultry research and maintaining active engagement with the global scientific community, regardless of geographical limitations. WPSA Pakistan highly appreciates Dr. Mukhtar's contribution and congratulates him on representing Pakistan at this prestigious international event.

Participation of WPSA Pakistan Members

In addition to these distinguished achievements, several members of WPSA Pakistan actively participated in the World's Poultry Congress 2026, contributing to scientific discussions, networking with international experts, and promoting collaboration within the global poultry sector.

The participating members included:

- Dr. F. M. Sabir
- Dr. Gulraiz Ahmad
- Dr. Nisar Ahmad Cheema
- Dr. Zafar Hayat
- Dr. Bilal Ashraf
- Dr. Shahzad Ashraf
- Dr. Najam Us Sahar

The participation and achievements of WPSA Pakistan members at the World's Poultry Congress 2026 demonstrate the country's increasing contribution to global poultry science. The international recognition received by Mr. Muhammad Zee Waqar, the scientific presentation delivered by Dr. M. Asad Iqbal, the leadership role of Dr. Asif Javaid, and the active participation of other WPSA Pakistan members collectively represent a significant milestone for the Pakistan Branch. WPSA Pakistan extends its heartfelt congratulations to all participants and award recipients.

